Q MAGAZINE

Volume 9 - Issue 4

April 2014

Welcome to Paradise!

Every April, we have two of the most outrageous events you will ever see.

The Drag Races aren't with cars, they are with drag queens. Queens in high heeled shoes race an obstacle course to win the trophy.

The Bed Races are exactly what they sound like, beds racing down Duval. Teams compete for the championship!

Enjoy!

What is STRIBILD?

STRIBILD is a prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in adults who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before. It combines 4 medicines into 1 pill to be taken once a day with food. STRIBILD is a complete single-tablet regimen and should not be used with other HIV-1 medicines.

STRIBILD does not cure HIV-1 infection or AIDS. To control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses you must keep taking STRIBILD. Ask your healthcare provider if you have questions about how to reduce the risk of passing HIV-1 to others. Always practice safer sex and use condoms to lower the chance of sexual contact with body fluids. Never reuse or share needles or other items that have body fluids on them.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is the most important information I should know about STRIBILD?

STRIBILD can cause serious side effects:

- Build-up of an acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious medical emergency. Symptoms of lactic acidosis include feeling very weak or tired, unusual (not normal) muscle pain, trouble breathing, stomach pain with nausea or vomiting, feeling cold especially in your arms and legs, feeling dizzy or lightheaded, and/or a fast or irregular heartbeat.
- Serious liver problems. The liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and fatty (steatosis). Symptoms of liver problems include your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice), dark "tea-colored" urine, light-colored bowel movements (stools), loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, and/or stomach pain.
- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or serious liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking STRIBILD for a long time. In some cases, these serious conditions have led to death. Call your healthcare provider right away if you have any symptoms of these conditions.

- Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. If you also have HBV and stop taking STRIBILD, your hepatitis may suddenly get worse. Do not stop taking STRIBILD without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to monitor your health. STRIBILD is not approved for the treatment of HBV.

Who should not take STRIBILD?

Do not take STRIBILD if you:

- Take a medicine that contains: alfuzosin, dihydroergotamine, ergotamine, methylergonovine, cisapride, lovastatin, simvastatin, pimozide, sildenafil when used for lung problems (Revatio[®]), triazolam, oral midazolam, rifampin or the herb St. John's wort.
- For a list of brand names for these medicines, please see the Brief Summary on the following pages.
- Take any other medicines to treat HIV-1 infection, or the medicine adefovir (Hepsera[®]).

What are the other possible side effects of STRIBILD?

Serious side effects of STRIBILD may also include:

- New or worse kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do regular blood and urine tests to check your kidneys before and during treatment with STRIBILD. If you develop kidney problems, your healthcare provider may tell you to stop taking STRIBILD.
- Bone problems, including bone pain or bones getting soft or thin, which may lead to fractures. Your healthcare provider may do tests to check your bones.
- Changes in body fat can happen in people taking HIV-1 medicines.
- Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any new symptoms after you start taking STRIBILD.

The most common side effects of STRIBILD include nausea and diarrhea. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effects that bother you or don't go away.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking STRIBILD?

- All your health problems. Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you have or had any kidney, bone, or liver problems, including hepatitis virus infection.
 - All the medicines you take, including prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements. STRIBILD may affect the way other medicines work, and other medicines may affect how STRIBILD works. Keep a list of all your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist. Do not start any new medicines while taking STRIBILD without first talking with your healthcare provider.
 - If you take hormone-based birth control (pills, patches, rings, shots, etc.).
 - If you take antacids. Take antacids at least 2 hours before or after you take STRIBILD.
 - If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if STRIBILD can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking STRIBILD.
 - If you are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed. HIV-1 can be passed to the baby in breast milk. Also, some medicines in STRIBILD can pass into breast milk, and it is not known if this can harm the baby.
- You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Please see Brief Summary of full Prescribing Information with important warnings on the following pages.

Brief summary of full Prescribing Information.
For more information, please see the full Prescribing
Information, including Patient Information.

What is STRIBILD?

- STRIBILD is a prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in adults who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before. STRIBILD is a complete regimen and should not be used with other HIV-1 medicines.
- STRIBILD does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS. You must stay on continuous HIV-1 therapy to control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses.
- Ask your healthcare provider about how to prevent passing HIV-1 to others. Do not share or reuse needles, injection equipment, or personal items that can have blood or body fluids on them. Do not have sex without protection. Always practice safer sex by using a latex or polyurethane condom to lower the chance of sexual contact with semen, vaginal secretions, or blood.

What is the most important information I should know about STRIBILD?

STRIBILD can cause serious side effects, including:

1. Build-up of lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis). Lactic acidosis can happen in some people who take STRIBILD or similar (nucleoside analogs) medicines. Lactic acidosis is a serious medical emergency that can lead to death. Lactic acidosis can be hard to identify early, because the symptoms could seem like symptoms of other health problems. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms which could be signs of lactic acidosis:

- feel very weak or tired
- have unusual (not normal) muscle pain
- have trouble breathing
- have stomach pain with nausea or vomiting
- feel cold, especially in your arms and legs

- feel dizzy or lightheaded
 - have a fast or irregular heartbeat
2. Severe liver problems. Severe liver problems can happen in people who take STRIBILD. In some cases, these liver problems can lead to death. Your liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and you may develop fat in your liver (steatosis). Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms of liver problems:

- your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice)
- dark "tea-colored" urine
- light-colored bowel movements (stools)
- loss of appetite for several days or longer
- nausea
- stomach pain

You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or severe liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking STRIBILD for a long time.

3. Worsening of Hepatitis B infection. If you have hepatitis B virus (HBV) infection and take STRIBILD, your HBV may get worse (flare-up) if you stop taking STRIBILD. A "flare-up" is when your HBV infection suddenly returns in a worse way than before.

- Do not run out of STRIBILD. Refill your prescription or talk to your healthcare provider before your STRIBILD is all gone
- Do not stop taking STRIBILD without first talking to your healthcare provider
- If you stop taking STRIBILD, your healthcare provider will need to check your health often and do blood tests regularly for several months to check your HBV infection. Tell your healthcare provider about any new or unusual symptoms you may have after you stop taking STRIBILD

Who should not take STRIBILD?

Do not take STRIBILD if you also take a medicine that contains:

- adefovir (Hepsera®)
- alfuzosin hydrochloride (Uroxatral®)
- cisapride (Propulsid®, Propulsid Quicksolv®)
- ergot-containing medicines, including:

dihydroergotamine mesylate (D.H.E. 45[®], Migranal[®]), ergotamine tartrate (Cafergot[®], Migergot[®], Ergostat[®], Medihaler Ergotamine[®], Wigraine[®], Wigrettes[®]), and methylergonovine maleate (Ergotrate[®], Methergine[®])

- lovastatin (Advicor[®], Altoprev[®], Mevacor[®])
- oral midazolam
- pimozone (Drap[®])
- rifampin (Rifadin[®], Rifamate[®], Rifater[®], Rimactane[®])
- sildenafil (Revatio[®]), when used for treating lung problems
- simvastatin (Simcor[®], Vytorin[®], Zocor[®])
- triazolam (Halcion[®])
- the herb St. John's wort

Do not take STRIBILD if you also take any other HIV-1 medicines, including:

- Other medicines that contain tenofovir (Atripla[®], Complera[®], Viread[®], Truvada[®])
- Other medicines that contain emtricitabine, lamivudine, or ritonavir (Combivir[®], Emtriva[®], Epivir[®] or Epivir-HBV[®], Epzicom[®], Kaletra[®], Norvir[®], Trizivir[®])

STRIBILD is not for use in people who are less than 18 years old.

What are the possible side effects of STRIBILD?

STRIBILD may cause the following serious side effects:

- See "What is the most important information I should know about STRIBILD?"
- New or worse kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do blood and urine tests to check your kidneys before you start and while you are taking STRIBILD. Your healthcare provider may tell you to stop taking STRIBILD if you develop new or worse kidney problems.
- Bone problems can happen in some people who take STRIBILD. Bone problems include bone pain, softening or thinning (which may lead to fractures). Your healthcare provider may need to do tests to check your bones.
- Changes in body fat can happen in people who take HIV-1 medicine. These changes may include increased amount of fat in the upper back and neck ("buffalo hump"), breast, and around the middle of your body (trunk). Loss of fat from the legs, arms and face may also happen. The exact cause and long-term health effects of these conditions are not known.

- Changes in your immune system (Immune Reconstitution Syndrome) can happen when you start taking HIV-1 medicines. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that have been hidden in your body for a long time. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you start having any new symptoms after starting your HIV-1 medicine.

The most common side effects of STRIBILD include:

- Nausea
- Diarrhea

Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effect that bothers you or that does not go away.

- These are not all the possible side effects of STRIBILD. For more information, ask your healthcare provider.
- Call your healthcare provider for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking STRIBILD?

Tell your healthcare provider about all your medical conditions, including:

- If you have or had any kidney, bone, or liver problems, including hepatitis B infection
- If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if STRIBILD can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking STRIBILD.
 - There is a pregnancy registry for women who take antiviral medicines during pregnancy. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. Talk with your healthcare provider about how you can take part in this registry.
- If you are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed if you take STRIBILD.
 - You should not breastfeed if you have HIV-1 because of the risk of passing HIV-1 to your baby.
 - Two of the medicines in STRIBILD can pass to your baby in your breast milk. It is not known if the other medicines in STRIBILD can pass into your breast milk.

- Talk with your healthcare provider about the best way to feed your baby.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements:

- STRIBILD may affect the way other medicines work, and other medicines may affect how STRIBILD works.

- Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you take any of the following medicines:

- Hormone-based birth control (pills, patches, rings, shots, etc)
- Antacid medicines that contains aluminum, magnesium hydroxide, or calcium carbonate. Take antacids at least 2 hours before or after you take STRIBILD
- Medicines to treat depression, organ transplant rejection, or high blood pressure
- amiodarone (Cordarone[®], Pacerone[®])
- atorvastatin (Lipitor[®], Caduet[®])
- bepridil hydrochloric (Vascor[®], Bepadin[®])
- bosentan (Tracleer[®])
- buspirone
- carbamazepine (Carbatrol[®], Eptol[®], Equetro[®], Tegreto[®])
- clarithromycin (Biaxin[®], Prevpac[®])
- clonazepam (Klonopin[®])
- clorazepate (Gen-xene[®], Tranxene[®])
- colchicine (Colcrys[®])
- medicines that contain dexamethasone
- diazepam (Valium[®])
- digoxin (Lanoxin[®])
- disopyramide (Norpace[®])
- estazolam
- ethosuximide (Zarontin[®])
- flecainide (Tambocor[®])
- flurazepam
- fluticasone (Flovent[®], Flonase[®], Flovent[®] Diskus, Flovent[®] HFA, Veramyst[®])
- itraconazole (Sporanox[®])
- ketoconazole (Nizoral[®])
- lidocaine (Xylocaine[®])
- mexiletine
- oxcarbazepine (Trileptal[®])

- perphenazine
- phenobarbital (Luminal[®])
- phenytoin (Dilantin[®], Phenytek[®])
- propafenone (Rythmol[®])
- quinidine (Neudexta[®])
- rifabutin (Mycobutin[®])
- rifapentine (Priftin[®])
- risperidone (Risperdal[®], Risperdal Consta[®])
- salmeterol (Serevent[®]) or salmeterol when taken in combination with fluticasone (Advair Diskus[®], Advair HFA[®])
- sildenafil (Viagra[®]), tadalafil (Cialis[®]) or vardenafil (Levitra[®], Staxyn[®]), for the treatment of erectile dysfunction (ED). If you get dizzy or faint (low blood pressure), have vision changes or have an erection that last longer than 4 hours, call your healthcare provider or get medical help right away.
- tadalafil (Adcirca[®]), for the treatment of pulmonary arterial hypertension
- telithromycin (Ketek[®])
- thioridazine
- voriconazole (Vfend[®])
- warfarin (Coumadin[®], Jantoven[®])
- zolpidem (Ambien[®], Edlular[®], Intermezzo[®], Zolpimist[®])

Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of all your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist when you get a new medicine. Do not start any new medicines while you are taking STRIBILD without first talking with your healthcare provider.

Keep STRIBILD and all medicines out of reach of children.

This Brief Summary summarizes the most important information about STRIBILD. If you would like more information, talk with your healthcare provider. You can also ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist for information about STRIBILD that is written for health professionals, or call 1-800-445-3235 or go to www.STRIBILD.com.

REAL HOUSEWIVES OF ARABIA

by: Brad Loekle

Straight people ruin everything. I hate to generalize but it's so often true. And here's a classic example:

I was recently performing on an Atlantis cruise through South America, ending in Rio for Carnival. Aside from the crew, there was only 3 straight people on the whole damn boat. And still somehow two out of those three ended up being more work than anyone would ever want to deal with. Out of the three, the one boy, who we'll call Bobby, is someone I know pretty well. Aside from being a gay for pay porn star he's also an escort. All in all, he's a good guy but his dick gets him in a lot of trouble. With only two female sexual choices on the ship his personal picks were limited. But that didn't stop him from screwing one of the two girls where on the gay cruise with some gay friends. The girls were from somewhere in the Middle East. That will be important later. Well lo and behold Bobby's condom breaks and they both panic. Suddenly I have a gay for pay porn star crying in my stateroom begging me to help him sort this out while I listen to an Arab girl cry and scream in two languages while pacing the room. For the next 24 hours we scour Brazil looking for anyone or place that will legally or illegally sell us Plan B or even birth control. Fun fact, Brazil is super Catholic. So even though most people walk around wearing no clothes and fucking 24 hours a day... they don't seem too worried about babies or their dicks falling off from syphilis. Side note: I think I know what happened to the Incas.

During this 24 hour episode of the Real Housewives of Arabia it is explained to me how in wherever the fuck she lives in the Middle East if she were to get pregnant outside of wedlock she'd be socially fucked and if she ever tested positive from any sort of STD she'd be DEPORTED?! Why then get ham slammed on a gay cruise ship by a gay-for-pay porn star? Why indeed, I asked. Her only answer, "I was bored and I really wanted to". Oh straight girls. I don't know why the stereotype is that men's dicks always get them into trouble and that the same doesn't apply to women. From what I've seen, vaginas can often be a black hole of bad choices.

Luckily the cruise ended and I get to get written out of the worst reality TV show I've ever seen. But it has made me thankful for being gay. Sure we have no rights and people like to use us for target practice but the alternative (being straight) is just awful. So I now support something insane bigots have been trying to do to us for years: move all the homosexuals to an island and leave them there to their own devices. Because it would be a fucking utopia! Also, it would be great for gay kids. Basically I imagine it working like Hogwarts. When a kid is between 12-16 they realize they're gay. Great! That's when you get a first class ticket to Fagtopia! You arrive and are immediately submerged in your own culture. You learn how to walk in heels (if you're a boy) and how to frame a house (if you're a girl). We could even have our own army, just so long as they resemble the cast of "300". There's really nothing we need straight people for anymore any way. If anything, they're standing in our damn way! So let's give them what some of them want and get the hell out of Dodge.

Brad Loekle is a comedian currently living in LA. He can be seen Sunday nights on TruTV's "World's Dumbest", writes for Joan Rivers on E! "Fashion Police" & tours extensively on Atlantis Events & RSVP gay cruises.

ZACHARY MOSES : MAN ABOUT TOWN

Welcome to Key West. A beautiful little four - by two-mile island; 90 miles from Cuba and one hundred and some change from the Florida mainland. Four by two... that's a really fucking small island. For a tourist it's great, for a local it's great. For a guy that just bought a convertible two weeks ago? Time to get off the rock!

Since I live on a four by two island, I really have no idea what to do when I drive up north. I'm used to riding my bike around town in my speedo. Is it legal to drive a car naked? Not in Utah where I came from. I did a little research, and decided to get my naked tan on at Geiger Key. That's right, there is a little known nudist hotspot ten miles north of Key West.

We took US 1 to mile marker 10, hung a right at the Circle K, and drove on until the road stopped at the edge of the military base. There was about a quarter mile walk, where I start slowly peeling the layers of uncomfortable clothing off. I brought some rollerblades, but the pavement was cracked and rocky, so that didn't work. After walking a bit, we hit some sandy beach covered in a few "non-nudists." We scowled at them and continued on. After we passed the lightpost with "nudists beyond" chalked on it, we knew we'd arrived at our seedy sanctuary. It was kinda cruisy over there, so I recommend taking protection (especially water shoes and bug spray, you perv!). The broken coral and mangrove roots can be rough on bare feet.

Walk about a hundred yards and you'll come across a huge structure made of driftwood. When we walked through, there was a couple having sex in a hammock. I wasn't sure what to do, should I stay and watch? Should I call for help? Is this public display of affection an invitation? So many questions...

Another quarter mile in, we came upon an area where the old bridge had washed away. The seawater was rushing through the old tunnel like a summer camp waterslide. We crossed our arms and ankles and let the outgoing tide carry us through! This was wicked cool, but I would not recommend it. Especially if you are scared of barnacles, sea urchins, the ocean, the dark, tiny crabs, small spaces, slippery things, drowning, or any kind of freaky sea animal.

After our beach day, we popped over to The Fish Camp, located at 5 Geiger Road. The restaurant is housed in a giant tiki hut, and located right on the water. It's fabulously romantic, the whiskey runs about four bones a glass, and the waitstaff are as authentic as they get. This place is a small slice of the original Keys, long before the tourists showed up. Go check it out and ruin it. Tell them Zachary sent you.

If you feel desperate because you don't have a convertible, so have no way to relive my adventure, I highly recommend the Key West airport, where they rent them.

Banana Boat - A gay cruise.

I was going to invite my mom on my cruise and then I remembered it's a banana boat.

Shexting - Texting while taking a dump.

To kill time on the toilet, I like to Shext.

Russian Morning - A hangover from drinking only vodka.

Dude, I totally woke up to a Russian Morning.

Circle Twerk - A bunch of people twerking on a single person in the middle.

We just did a Circle Twerk on that hot guy on the dance floor.

Famine Fuck - Having sex with an ugly guy just because you haven't gotten any in a while.

I have been so horny, I even gave that ugly guy a Famine Fuck.

Chuckle Fart - Laughing so hard that you fart.

That joke was so funny a Chuckle Fart escaped.

“Kitty Genovese: The Murder, The Bystanders, The Crime That Changed America” by Kevin Cook

c.2014, W.W. Norton

$25.95

256 pages

You always hold doors open.

That's because your mama taught you to help others: you hold doors for stragglers, lend your ear, dispense advice, volunteer, donate, and keep an eye on your neighbor's house. Really, it's no big deal.

You're a good helper, but how involved do you get in other people's matters? Read “Kitty Genovese” by Kevin Cook, for example, and ask yourself what you'd do if you heard a murder.

By all accounts, Catherine “Kitty” Genovese was a nice girl with a great smile and a generous spirit. As the manager of a local bar near her Queens, New York neighborhood, Kitty was trustworthy, good with customers, and was known to loan money to regulars in need. She made friends easily and was an “adventurous, troubled but optimistic, hard-working, fast-driving, living, breathing person...”

Until the morning of March 13, 1964.

It was just after 3am that morning and Kitty was on her way home to the apartment she shared with her girlfriend, Mary Ann Zielonko. Most people thought they were just roommates and, though it wasn't quite the truth, the women let others believe it because it was safer. In 1964, homosexuality was still illegal.

She was in her beloved red Fiat and was driving fast, as she usually did. Perhaps because of the hour, Kitty didn't notice that she was being followed.

Quiet, soft-spoken Winston Moseley had done something noteworthy for a Negro man in 1964: he'd purchased a house in an up-and-coming, mostly white neighborhood where he and his wife, Betty, were raising their boys. Between his good job and Betty's salary, they were relatively well-off but Betty sometimes worried about Winston. He was an insomniac and liked "just thinking." What she didn't know was that he was "thinking" about killing.

In early March 1964, Moseley committed the "particularly gruesome" murder of a black woman, then calmly went to work. He wondered if killing a white woman would be any different. Two weeks later, while driving around, looking for a victim, he spotted a little red Fiat and had a "compulsion" to find out...

You might be asking yourself what's so unusual about a fifty-year-old crime. Author Kevin Cook will tell you as he takes you on a journey through the early 1960s and a death that literally impacts everyone in North America today.

But that's not all you'll read in "Kitty Genovese."

Cook reminds us in many ways that Genovese was more than just a victim, that she was a real person who loved life. On the flipside, we meet the neighbors who supposedly ignored her cries and we're shown the slow making of a "monster" who seems chillingly without conscience. Cook uses these parallel stories to illustrate what happened as he busts myths that still linger to this day.

There are outrageous surprises in this book, some heartbreak, and passages that are grisly enough to make anyone squirm. But if you're a true-crime fan or you love good storytelling, "Kitty Genovese" is a book you can't help but devour.

And if Cook's book piques your interest and you absolutely need to know more about this crime and the aftermath, then look for "Kitty Genovese: A True Account of a Public Murder and Its Private Consequences" by Catherine Pelonero.

Here, Pelonero takes a deeper look at Moseley and the murders he committed prior to the attacks on Genovese. You'll also get a few more details on the trial that followed Moseley's arrest. It's a nice companion to the Cook book for anyone who's still curious.

Dear Nana,

My best friend loves to play tricks on me. Tricks, gags, scary shit all that sort of stuff. And I hate it. I hate it a lot. I tell him I hate it but he just sort of laughs it off. How do I get it across to him that I really want this to stop? Other than that, he's a great guy so I don't want to lose a friend over this.

Sounds like you've got a real April Fool for a friend. Since you've already told him countless times that you want him to cut it out, it's time for something a bit more creative. Here's what you do: hire a group of muscular, hot but terrifying men (look into guys who are fresh out of jail. They'll do anything for a couple hundred bucks). You're going to pay them to kidnap your friend and hold him "hostage". They're going to insist that he knows where they can find "Big Stevie". He will, of course, have no idea what they're talking about and never be able to answer them. Have them traumatize him a little. Maybe have one of the guys fuck him with a hand gun shoved in his mouth the whole time (I suggest, of course, unloading the gun). Have this go on for about 24-36 hours and then have them tie a noose around his neck while standing on the ledge of multi story building. And then, right before they push him off, you pop out and say "GOTCHA"! If that doesn't get the point across, it might be time to unfriend him on Facebook.

Dear Nana,

What's the key to living a long healthy life like you? Do you exercise, take vitamins, etc? Or is it all just luck of the draw?

How the hell should I know how I've lived this long? Most mornings I read the obituaries just to make sure I'm still not dead. And though my life has been long, I don't know about healthy. I've enjoyed my share of pork belly, pills & Pabst's Blue Ribbon just like everyone else. And lord knows in my younger years I had more than my share of unprotected sex; which back then was simply called "sex". We didn't have much to prevent disease or babies. You just prayed your vagina didn't fall off from illness and if you missed your monthly you'd start riding your bike to work down cobblestone streets to keep it from sticking. In the end, it doesn't matter how long your life is, but how good it is. Some people die early but lived happy lives. Some people live forever and seem surrounded always by strife and sorrow. So I'd say do as much as you can to improve your chances for health, wealth and happiness and then just get on with it. Thinking too much about life tends to get in the way of living it.
