MAN ABOUT TOWN

I

It's not often I get to write about something that won't even have started before this goes to press, but I was fortunate to get a preview of the show Priscilla Queen of the Desert which runs at the Waterfront Playhouse from March 5 - March 28.

Filled with disco era hits such as I Will Survive, It's Raining Men, MacArthur Park, Girls Just Wanna Have Fun and many more, this musical will guarantee to bring out the fabulous in everyone!

This show is adapted from Elliott's 1994 film The Adventures of Priscilla, Queen of the Desert, the musical tells the story of two drag queens and a transgender woman, who contract to perform a drag show at a resort in Alice Springs, a resort town in the remote Australian desert. As they head west from Sydney aboard their pink bus, Priscilla, the three friends come to the forefront of a comedy of errors, encountering a number of strange characters, as well as incidents of homophobia, while widening comfort zones and finding new horizons.

Staring local female impersonator Christopher Peterson, local entertainer Dave Bootle and Connor Cook as the threesome, Bernadette, Tick and Adam. The Weather Girls are played by Sabrina Fosse, Belle Jampol and Lauren Thompson; David Black plays Bob, Nana Tatebayashi as Cynthia, Lauren Thompson as Marion, Jake Fergusson, Benji; Donovan Pavlicek, Miss Understanding; Carolyn Cooper, Shirley; Rhett Kalman, Errol; James Harcup, Farrah Fawcett In; Aaron Duclos, Frank and Devante Mills, Torri Gregg, Arthur Crocker, Kelci Grooms and Ervin Tumm will complete the cast as Jimmy.

Performances are at 8pm Tuesday through Saturdays and this show is sure to sell out for the entire run so make sure you purchase your tickets early.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is the most important information I should know about BIKTARVY®?

BIKTARVY may cause serious side effects:

- ▶ Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. If you have both HIV-1 and HBV and stop taking BIKTARVY, your HBV may suddenly get worse. Do not stop taking BIKTARVY without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to monitor your health.

Who should not take BIKTARVY?

Do not take BIKTARVY if you take:

- ▶ dofetilide
- ▶ rifampin
- ▶ any other medicines to treat HIV-1

What are the other possible side effects of BIKTARVY?

Serious side effects of BIKTARVY may also include:

- ▶ Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any new symptoms after you start taking BIKTARVY.
- ▶ Kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do blood and urine tests to check your kidneys. If you develop new or worse kidney problems, they may tell you to stop taking BIKTARVY.
- ▶ Too much lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious but rare medical emergency that can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: weakness or being more tired than usual, unusual muscle pain, being short of breath or fast breathing, stomach pain with nausea and vomiting, cold or blue hands and feet, feel dizzy or lightheaded, or a fast or abnormal heartbeat.

- ▶ Severe liver problems, which in rare cases can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow, dark “tea-colored” urine, light-colored stools, loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, or stomach-area pain.

The most common side effects of BIKTARVY in clinical studies were diarrhea (6%), nausea (5%), and headache (5%). Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effects that bother you or don't go away.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking BIKTARVY?

- ▶ All your health problems. Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you have or have had any kidney or liver problems, including hepatitis virus infection.
- ▶ All the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, antacids, laxatives, vitamins, and herbal supplements. BIKTARVY and other medicines may affect each other. Keep a list of all your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist, and ask if it is safe to take BIKTARVY with all of your other medicines.
- ▶ If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if BIKTARVY can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking BIKTARVY.
- ▶ If you are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed. HIV-1 can be passed to the baby in breast milk.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Ask your healthcare provider if BIKTARVY is right for you.

Please see Important Facts about BIKTARVY, including important warnings, on the following page.

Because HIV doesn't change who you are.

What is BIKTARVY?

BIKTARVY is a complete, 1-pill, once-a-day prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in adults. It can either be used in people who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before, or people who are replacing their current HIV-1 medicines and whose healthcare provider determines they meet certain requirements.

BIKTARVY does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS. HIV-1 is the virus that causes AIDS.

LGBT Book Reviews by Terri Schlichenmeyer

"NAME DROP: THE REALLY GOOD CELEBRITY STORIES I USUALLY ONLY TELL AT HAPPY HOUR" BY ROSS MATHEWS

c.2020, Atria Books | $26.00 | 225 pages

Some people collect glassware.

Others collect books or sweaters or Santa statues or fancy cars or any one of a million things there are more than two of. Scientists say that, as a species, we're hard-wired to do it, even if you just collect friends. And in "Name Drop" by Ross Mathews, some of them might even be famous.

From the time he was a little boy growing up in a farm community in Washington state, Mathews wanted to have friends that were celebrities. He imagined what it would be like to hang out with them and gossip... and then it actually happened.

Now, he says he hates when people "name drop," but "honey," he has stories...

His celebrity circle started when he was an intern on The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, which sent him to report on the Olympics three times, which led him to start a blog, and that's how he became BFFs with Rosie O'Donnell. They've been fast friends ever since, though it was she who "made" him "sleep with a Republican."

He worked with Chelsea Handler on Chelsea Lately and because of where the show was filmed, he met and became friends with the Kardashians, who were filming their reality show in the same building. The Chelsea gig also gave Mathews the opportunity to be on the sidelines when his beloved Seahawks won the Super Bowl in 2013.

That was the year he also got to play celebrity matchmaker.

He had a chance to meet two of the Spice Girls. He got a quick-click photo op with Celine Dion. He met Omorosa and scooped every rabid reporter on TV; he met “Liza with an OMG” and spent all night talking with Christina Aguilera.

But “not every celebrity story is going to end like a fairy tale where the famous person and I end up bonding...” says Mathews.

Especially when it’s Barbara Walters, Faye Dunaway, or Elizabeth Taylor...

No doubt about it, “Name Drop” sure is fun.

It’s got the feel of a Friday night at your bestie’s house, where the snacks on the kitchen counter are bottomless and so are the Skinny ‘Ritas, and you scream yourself hoarse in mock horror and real laughter at the stories you’re told. It’s got the kind of gossip you want about the stars you love (or love to hate), spilled with a little snark and a charming amount of awe. It’s got an absolute (and absolutely relieving) sense that being famous sometimes doesn’t make a person act famous – although sometimes, it does. And it’s got “Rossipes” (Rossipes!) you can make to go along with your reading.

Like a red-carpet walk with a broken heel, though, “Name Drop” sometimes limps. Author Ross Mathews is funny and punny, but not both simultaneously: alas, the puns are too much, too overwhelming, so feel free to groan and ignore them. The dishy tales you get in this book are way more fun; in fact, if you love boy-meets-girl-celebrity tales, you’ll find that “Name Drop” is a great collection.

MY BIG GAY LIFE

Brad Loekle

UBER WEIRD

About two years ago I got rid of my car. I travel so much doing standup that in the three years prior to that, I'd only clocked 9,000 miles it. So, it was mainly ornamental in my life. And, since most times that I do leave the house in Los Angeles, I'm going to be drinking (believe me... it helps) I was already taking Ubers pretty much everywhere.

When I switched over to being completely uber-dependent, I thought I was a goddamn genius. I was saving easily $300 a month and I was taking one car off the already clogged LA streets. Not to mention the fact I would be supporting the local economy of struggling artists who pepper the landscape of this town. And, at first, that's who a lot of my drivers were. These wide-eyed hopefuls who come to LA with delusions of grandeur. But then the tides turned... Uberly.

In the last six months, and in 11 states and 9 countries, I have seen the average Uber driver devolve from young, freelance hopefuls to an assortment of unstable Bedlam rejects. I got into an Uber the other day with what I can only assume, based on the shape of his head and lack of neck, was a Zika baby who beat the odds. I'm all for an underdog story... but not at 65 miles an hour on the freeway.

The airport rides are always the most dangerous. Not the actual driving but who is behind the wheel. Depending on traffic, I might be in this aspiring serial killer's car for 45 minutes to an hour. And that is more than enough time for them to bestow upon me all of their zaniest notions about American history, vaccinations, or the flatness of the Earth. Yes, I was in the back seat of a man who believes the Earth is flat and yes he was using a GPS... which orbits the spherical planet we live on... in order to know where he was going. And no, he did not see the delicious humor in that when I pointed it out.

I've been in the back seat of a mini-van that was clearly also the middle-aged woman's house. Right down to the fact she had hung silk curtains on the side windows and hot glued figurines to the ample, yet now cluttered, dashboard/coffee table of her car-partment.

Just yesterday I ubered to a friend's birthday party. As I got into the back seat of what appeared to be a normal looking soccer-mom, I realized the woman was in the middle of an argument with no one. I tucked into the back seat of the full volume yelling woman to learn that she was basically still arguing with the LAST passenger who was in the car. But wasn't finished so decided to rehash the entire argument with me. She was an Iranian immigrant who wanted to explain to me how Trump wasn't all bad and Jimmy Carter would burn in Hell. I'll give her props, on one hand, for bringing Jimmy Carter up in a one-sided argument within 97 seconds because that is no small feat. But I also think it's fair I gave her two stars because I had to pay twelve dollars to think about the eventual destination of Jimmy Carter's theoretical afterlife. I'm just trying to get to brunch, for fuck's sake!

This why I'm proposing that Uber start a new category... or even entirely new app... called Whispr. At Whispr, neither the driver or the passenger is allowed to talk to each other unless they are involved in an accident... or end up fucking. And even if they end up fucking, there should still be an option for NO TALKING.

Brad Loekle was a semi-finalist on NBC's "Last Comic Standing". He can be seen every week on TruTV's "World's Dumbest", has written for Joan Rivers on E! "Fashion Police" & tours internationally. His book, "My Big Gay Life" is available on Amazon and at www.bradloekle.com

STAY SAFE RIDE SMART

A bicycle is a great way to get around, but stay safe by following the rules of the road.

- A bicycle is like any other vehicle, so you must follow the rules of the road.
 - Bicycles must follow all traffic controls such as signs and signals.
 - Bicycles cannot travel the wrong way down a one way street.
 - Bicycles must be ridden on the right hand side of a two way street.
 - You must signal all turns with hand signals.
 - Headsets cannot be worn while cycling.
 - Riding a bike while under the influence can get you a DUI in Florida.
- Lights are required between sunset and sunrise
 - A white light is required in front and a red light in the rear.
- Riding on the sidewalk or crosswalk is permitted but with these provisions
 - Pedestrians have the right of way. Yield to pedestrians.
 - When passing pedestrians, you must signal your intent before doing so.
- Anyone under the age of 16 must wear a helmet.

Here are a few additional tips that you may find helpful.

- Lock up your bike at all times. If not, you'll probably be walking home.
 - Pass the lock through the frame and the front tire.
 - Be careful not to lock your bike to an adjoining bike by accident.
 - If you lock your bike to private property, it may be impounded.
- When approaching occupied cars, be ready to react if the door opens.

Enjoy your time seeing the best of Key West!

Local Bartender Interviews

By Jameson Rabbitt

RYAN MACAULEY BRINGS THE JERSEY SHORE TO KEY WEST

"Lets get wasted" is this Bartenders party motto. From Thomsriver New Jersey to the Garden Pool-Bar at Bourbon Pub, Macauley puts his best G.T.L. (Gym, Tan, Laundry) twist on local classic cocktails.

"Lately, I've been making a lot of Rum Punches and Rum Runners. Rum is making a huge come-back." Said Macauley as he pours a glass bottle of vodka into plastic cups full of ice by the pool bar on a perfectly-hot winter day in Key West. Ryan has been working at Bourbon Pub for about a year and prefers his vodka to be Deep Eddy Lemmon with some Sprite.

Ryan started his bartending career in Sarasota where he got his hands wet behind the bar working at the local gay bars, and by experience he can tell you, about 95% of bartenders are sluts. The best pick-up line he's heard while working has got to be the classic tried and true, "do you believe in love at first sight, or should I pass by you again?" Somehow this tired pick-up line has managed to survive years of smokey bars and is still alive in 2020 in the late hours of the night.

Ryan eventually made his way down to the Keys and has called it home for nine years working at other bars along the Gayborhood. When it comes to Ryan's poison of choice? Prepare for the hair of the dog my friends! A straight shot of Jagger to the dome is how he gets things done fast and to the point. Ryan is not afraid to serve a rabid pack of bachelorettes a round of Green Tea shots to get their night of wooing (later crying) started, and is ready to help a broken heart erase the remains of a long gone relationships with a shot or Rumbleminze a la carte. His infallible hangover cure is a greasy half eaten Philly-cheese steak from hang-over central, Mr. Z's (that he previously ordered the night before in a black-out moment) and a super beefed-up Bloody Mary with spicy vodka and all the toppings! I mean ALL the toppings: onion-rings, peperciicnis, bacon, blue cheese-stuffed olives (Even a slider) is enough to bring a zombie back to life.

On his days off you can find him relaxing at his local favorite hangout Virgilio's, sipping chocolatey-delightful Macchiato Martinis for "Martini Mondays", but on date-night, it's all about being Wet and Wild on Jet-skis, followed by an intimate fancy dinner, and a nice glass of Pinot Noir to put a nice finish to a very Key West romantic evening.

You can find Ryan slinging drinks behind the bar at Bourbon Pub where he can tell you his craziest Fantasy Fest "pool orgy stories" over a cold Michelob Ultra, (his favorite beer) and maybe get him to pour you his signature shot to put your ass to sleep, a straight shot of Jagger.

Until next time! happy CocQ & many Tales!

ASK NANA

E-mail your questions to nana@keywestgayrag.com

Dear Nana,

My roommate is the messiest person I've ever met. I sort of knew it when we moved in together but he's really gotten a lot worse in the shared spaces. I'm starting to really resent him for it and I don't want to because he's a great friend otherwise. What can I do to find a happy middle ground between his mess and my neat and tidy way of life?

Move out. No really. It's like you're getting mad at fish because of how poorly it can climb a tree. Messy people are who they are. Neat people are who they are. An asshole is never going to have 20/20 vision. And that is not a metaphor. I mean it's like you're actually looking at a human anus and wondering why it can't read a newspaper. Don't lose a friendship over a bunch of dirty dishes. Some people live well together and some people don't. It doesn't say anything about either of you, it's just the way it is. If you can't afford to live alone then I would seek out a roommate whose OCD compliments your own.

Dear Nana,

My boyfriend is really getting into puppy play and it's really not my thing. I'm not a prude and I'm totally supportive of anyone's fetishy desires. But it just doesn't turn me on. Can we still be happy together if we don't share the same kinks and turn ons? Or is this a sign that we're not meant to be?

Move out. No, this time I'm kidding. I just wanted to see if the reader was paying attention. Happy relationships are made up of a lot more than just one kind of connection. Yes, shared interests (both in and out of the bedroom... or kennel, as it may be) are important. But that doesn't mean you have to share ALL interests. Is he only interested in Puppy play, sexually, these days or does he still have various other sorts of sexual drives? Do you both still share those? How is the relationship otherwise? Do you feel like you're both drifting apart and this canine inclination is just the red flag you're willing to recognize? Or are you and he both comfortable with the idea of him pupping it up with others and then coming home to homo out in whatever way floats both your boats? These are all the questions I'd be working out answers for. But I wouldn't jump to any conclusions before you've looked at the entirety of the relationship. And if you do stay with him... don't neuter him.

DO YOU HAVE PROBLEMS? OF COURSE YOU DO! WHY NOT LET NANA HELP YOU?!
