LEZ

I
It's 12:08pm and I'm driving down Truman headed toward Moondog for some of the best pastries to celebrate closing on our own home. Yes, we own a piece of Key West now. We're so cool we can't even stand ourselves. I'm beyond happy. The woman driving northbound on Truman street was, perhaps, even happier than I was, though, today. As she drove her vintage red and black convertible VW Bug out of town she was holding what looked like a double decker strawberry ice cream cone (probably from Flamingo Crossing) and smiling while she caught the drips in that bumpy buggy. It was one of the moments that I think to myself - I love this town. Ice cream for lunch sounds perfect to me on a 91 degree day in the summer.

When the summer hits the keys we get great cloud weather and flat calms. This grand stretch of weather makes it a perfect time to get out on the water. In fact, if you're here and you DON'T get out on the water... what are you doing here? You can drink anywhere! Go touch that water!

I hope Ms. Strawberry Ice Cream Bug was headed to one of my favorite places in the Keys. Lazy Dog. Located just outside of town, female family owned and operated, Lazy Dog has kayak and paddle board rentals that are ready at your beck and call. They'll take you on mangrove tours, eco tours, boats to the sandbars, you name it. My favorite part is actually paddling out of the little marina there. I almost ALWAYS see manatees right there! It's crazy when they swim under your board slowly and gracefully and then off into the deep. It's even cooler when I get to see a mama and baby that frequent the area.

If you're looking for something to do with a group of your closest lesbian friends (new or established) or even if you're traveling solo, you have to get to Lazy Dog on Stock Island. In true lesbian fashion, dogs are welcome and encouraged on the paddle boards if you're traveling with them. There's usually a Australian pup hanging around somewhere to show yours the ropes.

Lez Go Out on the water and get our mermaid on this summer! We'll see you at the sandbars! After we're done decorating our new Keyzy home, of course!

DIMITRI

LIVING WITH HIV SINCE 2018

REAL BIKTARVY PATIENT

KEEP ASPIRING.

Because HIV doesn't change who you are.

BIKTARVY[®] is a complete, 1-pill, once-a-day prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in certain adults. BIKTARVY does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS.

Ask your healthcare provider if BIKTARVY is right for you.

ONE SMALL PILL, ONCE A DAY

Pill shown not actual size (15 mm x 8 mm) | Featured patient compensated by Gilead.

Scan to see Dimitri's story.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR BIKTARVY®

This is only a brief summary of important information about BIKTARVY and does not replace talking to your healthcare provider about your condition and your treatment.

(bik-TAR-vee)

MOST IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT BIKTARVY

BIKTARVY may cause serious side effects, including:

- ▶ Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. Your healthcare provider will test you for HBV. If you have both HIV-1 and HBV, your HBV may suddenly get worse if you stop taking BIKTARVY. Do not stop taking BIKTARVY without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to check your health regularly for several months, and may give you HBV medicine.

ABOUT BIKTARVY

BIKTARVY is a complete, 1-pill, once-a-day prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in adults and children who weigh at least 55 pounds. It can either be used in people who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before, or people who are replacing their current HIV-1 medicines and whose healthcare provider determines they meet certain requirements.

BIKTARVY does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS. HIV-1 is the virus that causes AIDS.

Do NOT take BIKTARVY if you also take a medicine that contains:

- ▶ dofetilide
- ▶ rifampin
- ▶ any other medicines to treat HIV-1

POSSIBLE SIDE EFFECTS OF BIKTARVY

BIKTARVY may cause serious side effects, including:

- ▶ Those in the "Most Important Information About BIKTARVY" section.
- ▶ Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that may have been hidden in your body.

Tell your healthcare provider if you have any new symptoms after you start taking BIKTARVY.

- ▶ Kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do blood and urine tests to check your kidneys. If you develop new or worse kidney problems, they may tell you to stop taking BIKTARVY.
- ▶ Too much lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious but rare medical emergency that can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: weakness or being more tired than usual, unusual muscle pain, being short of breath or fast breathing, stomach pain with nausea and vomiting, cold or blue hands and feet, feel dizzy or lightheaded, or a fast or abnormal heartbeat.
- ▶ Severe liver problems, which in rare cases can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow, dark "tea-colored" urine, light-colored stools, loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, or stomach-area pain.
- ▶ The most common side effects of BIKTARVY in clinical studies were diarrhea (6%), nausea (6%), and headache (5%).

These are not all the possible side effects of BIKTARVY. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any new symptoms while taking BIKTARVY.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.FDA.gov/medwatch or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Your healthcare provider will need to do tests to monitor your health before and during treatment with BIKTARVY.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR BIKTARVY® (cont'd)

BEFORE TAKING BIKTARVY

Tell your healthcare provider if you:

- ▶ Have or have had any kidney or liver problems, including hepatitis infection.
- ▶ Have any other health problems.
- ▶ Are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if BIKTARVY can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking BIKTARVY.
- ▶ Are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed. HIV-1 can be passed to the baby in breast milk.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take:

- ▶ Keep a list that includes all prescription and over-the-counter medicines, antacids, laxatives, vitamins, and herbal supplements, and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist.

- ▶ BIKTARVY and other medicines may affect each other. Ask your healthcare provider and pharmacist about medicines that interact with BIKTARVY, and ask if it is safe to take BIKTARVY with all your other medicines.

HOW TO TAKE BIKTARVY

Take BIKTARVY 1 time each day with or without food.

LGBT Book Reviews by Terri Schlichenmeyer

"BURN THE PAGE: A TRUE STORY OF TORCHING DOUBTS, BLAZING TRAILS, AND IGNITING CHANGE" BY DANICA ROEM

c.2022, Viking | $27.00 | 320 pages

Sometimes, the smallest things make you hot under the collar.

It doesn't take much: an idiot on the road, a disrespectful eye-roll, something muttered under someone's breath and that's it, you're torched. Sometimes, conversely, the smallest things can change your bad mood. In "Burn the Page" by Danica Roem, it was an email.

It seemed like Danica Roems was always crying.

To be fair, she had good reason: she was working two jobs and they weren't enough to pay the bills. Her car was a piece of junk, it was 2016, and her states' Republican delegates had just filed several anti-LGBTQ bills. For a trans woman like Roem, tears were perfectly appropriate until someone emailed her, asking why she didn't run for office herself.

Actually, why not?

So, in preparation, Roem hired a team to do "opposition research" to suss out any past behavior that her homophobic opponent might try to use against her.

Born in the fall of 1984, Roem was three years old when her father committed suicide in their back yard; soon after, her mother's parents needed care and moved into the Roem household. This, Roem admits, was stressful all around.

Even in fifth grade, Roem knew that she wasn't a "cis-het straight kid" but since she had no "positive representation of LGBTQ people," she stayed closeted. By 13, though, she knew she was trans but didn't want anybody to know; to help hide it, she participated in sports; fell in love with baseball and heavy metal music; and admired girls, albeit in ways different than did her male peers. Eventually, she made a community for herself.

But when she began to think about maybe having a relationship, Roem soon realized that she had some work to do. She couldn't expect someone to see her for herself until she did it first.

"I had to commit to being who I was..." she said.

"It was time to transition."

If you ever need proof of the concept that little things make big differences, you'll want "Burn the Page." Same goes if you want to read a memoir that bounces with energy.

Indeed, this book is a bit like taking a small kid into a toy store: they run amok, touching and examining everything. That's not unappealing; author Danica Roem careens about, but she always lands on the heart of this book – being honest, open, and authentic – which is likewise what she encourages readers to do. Her passion for this is contagious, and she sweeps readers along with her enthusiasm on other aspects of her life, whether it's heavy metal music, travel, or politics. Be aware that, because of her excitement over her career and her heavy coverage of it, the latter might slam shut the eyelids of readers who are not politically-minded.

On that, this book is like no other political memoir, ever. It's fun, wildly entertaining, and it aims to mean more than just one woman's story. For readers who want a good activist tale with a smile, "Burn the Page" is on fire.

MY BIG GAY LIFE

Brad Loekle

GAYBY DADDY

A friend of mine took a pandemic job as the Head Master of a private Libertarian middle school in central California. I know that that sentence is a lot to unpack already. And trust me the school is as problematic as you can imagine. And I imagine for a living. There have been a bevy of stories I don't have to go into this month. Stories like: when he told me he'd forgotten he had a box of powdered veterinarian-grade lubricant in his backpack... the box leaked and trailed powdered lube down the hallways... and he needed me to frantically google how to best clean it up without using water, so that we did not turn the school into a vaguely sexual Slip-N-Slip.

Today I want to focus on the tale of one little boy at the school who we will call Sam. Vic, the Head Master, had been telling me he thought this little nugget might be showing blossoming signs of being gay (something that is considered a bit of a third rail at this parochial propaganda machine of a school). Sam is highly intelligent, often times sarcastic, and loves to skip. I mean, that basically describes most gay men at eight, right?

Well Sam has also been bullying some of the other kids. Not physically but verbally, as a sharp tongue is often a young sissy's weapon of choice. Lord knows it was this sissy's weapon of choice when I was eight until I was... well, now. Vic was told that Sam was calling a handful of the boys: "stupid", "ugly", "boring". Again, what eight- or ten-year-old is droll enough to consider "boring" a social offense? (I love this kid already!). Vic told me that the way he explained this sort of bad behavior to Sam was to say, "Of course these are mean things to say to anyone. And being a bully is unacceptable. But they're also not even very good insults. So, if you're so smart don't say such stupid things."

I immediately pointed out that, if I were Sam, I would have taken this as more of a challenge than lesson. Why not just help the kid build a burn book and steal wine from his mom's "medicine cabinet?!"

Well, I was proven correct when two weeks later Vic called me from the school laughing hysterically. He told me that I was, indeed, correct. Sam had risen to new heights of kiddy-cattiness. One of the stupid, ugly, porkers came down to the office and asked to speak to Vic again. He said Sam was not only still bullying them but that he'd become more inventive with his insults.

"What did he call you?" -Vic asked

"He called me a failed abortion", said the child.

When Vic called Sam into his office to confront him about this. Vic asked if he was still bullying the boys. To which Sam said, "I might be. But at least I didn't call them 'fat' or 'stupid', right?" Then I assume he took a long drag off a Virginia Slim and sauntered back to 4th period.

I swear to God, if I'd ever even come close to touching a vagina with my finger, more or less my penis, I would swear that Sam is my illegitimate child. And now all I want to do is pull a Professor Charles Xavier and start an X-Men school for children gifted with evil senses of humor and too much ennui to be allowed around normal humans. I will call them the X-Thems. And we will fuck this world up.

Brad Loekle's latest comedy special & album, "Brash Boys Club" is available on Amazon, AppleTV, iTunes, and other platforms. He was a semi-finalist on NBC's "Last Comic Standing". He can be seen every week on TruTV's "World's Dumbest", has written for Joan Rivers on E! "Fashion Police" & tours internationally. His book, "My Big Gay Life" is available on Amazon. Naked Men, welcome to Bone Island July 2022

Pup (Kevin) and I (The Naked Realtor) are extremely happy to welcome everyone to Bone Island Bare It All. After taking a year off for Covid and this last Decembers event being a crazy and very fun success, we are again excited to see all our returning friends and to introduce to the newcomers our weekend of all-male naturist fun as only Key West can offer! We promise you will leave after the weekend with new friends, new experiences, and probably a little worn out. We hope you will enjoy all the fun we have in store for you.

Bone Island was started in December 2006 as a way to gather naturist men for a weekend of camaraderie and to share with them the beauty and fun of Key West. It wouldn't happen without the support and encouragement of my friends in the local community. This event is without question a community effort and I thank all our business partners for their continued assistance. They welcome us on their properties with open arms, and they and their staffs provide us fantastic venues to enjoy our weekend together. During your weekend, please show your support to all our sponsors and partners, including the servers and service people who are working hard to make sure you have a fun and comfortable visit.

We are very proud of how far Bone Island Bare It All has come since the first weekend in 2006. Each time, more men discover our unique brand of fun and go home telling their naked friends about it. I'm also thrilled with our distinction as one of The Huffington Post's "Top 13 LGBT things to do in 2013" and 2015. Finally, thank YOU for making Bone Island Bare It All the joy it is. Without you guys, I'd just be sitting in my backyard naked, as I experienced in 2020. So, thanks for choosing to make the trip down the Keys. Remember the sunscreen and to play safe. Enjoy our Bone Island!

E-mail your questions to nana@keywestgayrag.com

Dear Nana,

My boyfriend only showers once a week. He claims it's better for his skin, but it's not better for my nose. He's also uncircumcised and if he wants me to blow him any day after his shower day... it can get a bit dodgy down there. Do you have any advice on how to try and sway him showering habits to be more frequent without me being too shady about it? Thanks in advance!

First off, my condolences to you and to your sense of smell and taste. Was he like this when you two first met or has this bathing boycott been a more recent occurrence? If it's something new, I feel that this would be the moment I should mention that a fear of water and getting wet can be a sign of advanced rabies. So maybe take him to a doctor just to make sure he doesn't go all Cujo on your cock one night in bed. To be honest, I don't know that there is a way to broach is subject without being blunt. Just tell him his cock stinks and that he needs to at least take a whore's bath each day. For those who aren't familiar: a whore's bath is where you just use a warm, soapy washcloth to do your pits, tits, and tender bits. If he doesn't heed your warning, I would replace your normal lube with Purell. You only have to Purell a man's dick once, to cut through that gouda-goo his foreskin is fermenting, in order to get the message across. Sometimes actions speak louder than words.

Dear Nana,

I just inherited a little bit of money from Grandma and my parents are pressuring me to invest the whole amount. (It's $15,000). But I'm in my 30's, have a good job, have a 401K, live within my means but have not traveled nearly as much as I want to. And, after this pandemic, I'm starting to realize life can change at any moment. So, what do you think I should do? Plan an amazing trip of a lifetime now or invest the money for a rainy day?

Let me start by saying I'm sorry for your loss. Grandmas can be really amazing people in our lives and, no matter what age we lose them at, it's a loss like no other. As for your money plans, I don't see why you can't split the difference.

Why not take 1/3 or even 1/2 of the money and invest it in something? Maybe be a little daring with this investment since you seem to have your money plans well in hand already. Then you can take the other half and see the world a bit. That should appease your parents, who do seem to just have your best interests in mind, and still allow you to live a little. I agree with you completely that the reason there is "not time like the present" is, in large part, because the present is all we're guaranteed. And, having spent my own youth traveling all over the world... I can tell you that nothing nourishes the soul like travel. If you do go travelling, be sure to send me a postcard!

DO YOU HAVE PROBLEMS? OF COURSE YOU DO! WHY NOT LET NANA HELP YOU?!
